

February 21, 2017

8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. (CST)

Workshop #078-17

GRREC Office & Training Facility • 230 Technology Way • Bowling Green, KY

GRREC is pleased to offer Designing Quality Media Arts Tasks for K-8 Students. This is a professional learning experience based on Media Arts Standards and focuses on the Kentucky Program Review perspective of allowing opportunities for student demonstration of understanding beyond a paper-and-pencil test.

As teachers we want our learners to use their imagination, creative processes and experience, both inside and outside of the arts. Media artists are able to plan, organize and develop creative ideas and models into process structures to achieve desired end products. In addition, the media arts integrate beautifully into various contents allowing opportunities for students to present, share, and distribute their works throughout various authentic contexts.

Join GRREC's own STEAM Consultant, Jennifer Sheffield and Director of Instructional Technology, Terri Stice for a great day of learning about students demonstrating what they know, understand and are able to do beyond a paper-and-pencil test! Opportunities for collaborating and networking with educators from across the GRREC region will be included in this day of learning.

FYI: This is an interactive hands-on workshop. Please bring your own device.

Participants Will:

- Explore the National Core Arts Standards for Media Arts
- Develop awareness of shifts in classroom practice that support students as they demonstrate their learning in ways beyond the traditional paper and pencil.
- Learn strategies to increase student cognitive engagement amplified by digital media.
- Leave with Student-Centered tasks to incorporate in their classrooms
